Survival of the Fittest." Elsewhere we give the views of a leaing banker upon the relative merits of National Bank and National Greenback currency. Mr. Ooe says "we must abublutely abolish either one or the other." Like the Chinese, either the Greenback or the National Bank-note "must go." Just here is the financial tug of war, and frankly admitted to be so, and the facul accepted from the benkers side. Why can't the political leaders, Republican and Democratic, drop their defunct sectional quarrels, and boldly face the vital, Greenback-Lubor issue, as this gentleman of the Bankers' Association has done? They must meet it squarely,

But Mr. Coe, we throk, fulls to show that his National Bank notes are better & Stratto than, and should therefore displace, the Keeping w Greenback currency. He has not proved to our satisfaction, that individual, or insist upobank credit, is better than the aggregate, communal credit of the people, He has not disproved, but rether proved that what Secretary Chuse called "the credit of this great nation, cut up into little pieces and circulated as money, constituted the best money we had then or can have now. In our civil war, when the State banks prove imbecile, and gold s coward, the Greenback fought our battles and saved the nation's life. That Mr. One expressly admits, If a friend proved reliable in times of adversity why should he be ungratefully discarded he show that now National Bank Notes are superior to a Pourles Currency. To and Green do so would not only "make the worse Among ppear the better reason" as to our war the State sperience, but necessitate showing that proved the preature is superior to the creator ; etc. and that It is a sound principle, both in fine, and nance and othics, that men, or our rations, may live upon the interest of what they owe. That false principle is the heading chief corner stone of banking. Others publish banking business Our 2,000 National and says
